RE: Response to RFP – Request for Proposal for Plan Administrative Services
City of Ocala General Employees Retirement System

Dear Trustees:

On behalf of The Resource Centers, LLC, we are pleased to submit our proposal to provide administrative support services to the City of Ocala Police Officers' Retirement System. We appreciate the opportunity to present our qualifications and operational capabilities to the Board during this important period of administrative transition.

We recognize that the Retirement System has historically benefited from a combination of dedicated City administrative support and strong local Board coordination resources. Our proposal is designed to preserve those important relationships and member accessibility features while providing the broader operational infrastructure necessary to support the ongoing administration of the Retirement System following the departure of Alicia Gaither.

For nearly three decades, The Resource Centers has specialized exclusively in the administration of public sector retirement and benefit plans throughout Florida and the Southeast, including numerous police officer retirement systems containing DROP accounts, Share Accounts, and mature retiree populations. Our firm currently administers nearly 70 public pension and benefit plans representing more than $10 billion in assets and over 30,800 active and retired members. We possess the operational infrastructure, payment administration capabilities, financial reporting systems, and experienced personnel necessary to support the continued administration of the Retirement System while coordinating closely with existing local support resources.

Importantly, our proposal is structured to complement and support the continuing role of Mike Sommer, who would continue serving as a valuable local resource for member services and Board coordination activities through a separate arrangement with the Board. Under this coordinated structure, The Resource Centers would provide the broader operational infrastructure necessary for the continued administration of the Retirement System, including benefit payroll administration, accounting support, financial reporting, compliance coordination, workflow processing, administrative systems, and coordination with the Board's professional service providers.

We believe this coordinated administrative approach provides the Board with the operational depth, continuity, and internal administrative support structure of an experienced public pension administration firm while preserving the local accessibility and member support relationships that have historically been important to the Retirement System and its members.

The Resource Centers further distinguishes itself through disciplined operational controls and administrative accountability. Our firm undergoes an annual SSAE-18 SOC 1 Type 2 audit evaluating the design and operating effectiveness of our internal controls and administrative procedures. We believe this independent audit process reflects our longstanding commitment to operational integrity, transparency, security, and fiduciary-focused administration.

We appreciate the opportunity to present our proposal and would welcome the privilege of supporting the continued administration of the City of Ocala Police Officers' Retirement System during this important transition and in the years ahead. Please feel free to contact us should the Board require any additional information or wish to discuss any aspect of our proposal further.

Sincerely,

J. Scott Baur, Managing Partner

SECTION 2. EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

SECTION 2

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

The Resource Centers is honored to present this proposal to provide administrative services to the City of Ocala Police Officers' Retirement System. We recognize that the Board is currently navigating an important operational transition following many years of dedicated administrative service provided through both City personnel and local Board support resources. During periods of transition, continuity of operations, institutional knowledge, and stable member services are critically important to the Board, plan members, retirees, and beneficiaries who rely upon the ongoing administration of the Retirement System.

For nearly three decades, The Resource Centers has specialized exclusively in the administration of public sector retirement and benefit plans throughout Florida and the Southeast. Today, our firm administers nearly 70 public pension and benefit plans representing more than $10 billion in assets and over 30,800 active and retired members. Our operations support the processing of more than $30 million in monthly benefit payments while maintaining the personalized service, accountability, and responsiveness expected by local Boards of Trustees and public safety members.

Our firm has extensive experience administering police officer retirement systems, including plans containing DROP accounts, Share Accounts, special benefit provisions, and mature retiree populations requiring disciplined operational controls and consistent member support. We understand that successful administration of a police retirement system requires not only accurate records and financial administration, but also responsiveness, accessibility, continuity, and strong working relationships with trustees, members, legal counsel, actuaries, investment consultants, custodians, and City staff.

A significant strength of our proposal is our ability to provide the broader operational infrastructure necessary to support the Retirement System while coordinating with existing local Board support services already being provided by Mike Sommer. The Resource Centers does not propose to replace or duplicate the local member support and Board coordination services currently provided by Mr. Sommer. Rather, our proposal is intended to complement and support those services by providing the operational, financial, compliance, reporting, and benefit administration infrastructure necessary for the continued administration of the Retirement System following the departure of Alicia Gaither.

Under this coordinated approach, Mr. Sommer would continue serving as a valuable local resource for Board coordination and member accessibility, while The Resource Centers would assume responsibility for the broader administrative operations of the Plan, including benefit payroll administration, accounting support, financial reporting, compliance reporting, administrative systems, workflow processing, and coordination with the Board's professional service providers. We believe this structure preserves continuity and local accessibility for members while providing the Board with the experienced operational support and administrative depth necessary for long-term plan administration.

The Resource Centers also possesses existing operational procedures, ACH processing capabilities, reconciliation systems, and staff resources necessary to immediately assume pension benefit payment operations utilizing banking structures similar to those currently used by the Retirement System. Our firm already administers multiple public pension plans utilizing local Truist banking relationships and possesses the infrastructure necessary to continue recurring pension payrolls, DROP distributions, and related payment operations without requiring an immediate migration of payment systems or custodial disbursement arrangements.

The Resource Centers further distinguishes itself through disciplined operational controls and administrative accountability. Our firm undergoes an annual SSAE-18 SOC 1 Type 2 audit evaluating the design and operating effectiveness of our internal controls and administrative procedures. We believe this independent audit process demonstrates our commitment to operational integrity, transparency, security, and fiduciary accountability. Importantly, we remain the only administrator of Florida public pension plans known to complete this level of annual operational audit review.

Our administrative philosophy is straightforward: pension administration is ultimately a service business built upon trust, responsiveness, consistency, and long-term relationships. While technology and systems are important operational tools, successful administration ultimately depends upon experienced personnel, disciplined procedures, and a genuine commitment to serving trustees and plan members. For that reason, The Resource Centers continues to provide integrated member services, secure online access, benefit estimation tools, workflow management systems, and operational support services as part of our standard administrative platform without separate recurring technology charges.

The enclosed proposal outlines our qualifications, operational capabilities, staffing structure, transition methodology, and administrative services in greater detail. We appreciate the opportunity to present our qualifications to the Board and would welcome the privilege of supporting the continued administration of the City of Ocala Police Officers' Retirement System during this important transition and in the years ahead.

CONTINUITY & TRANSITION READINESS

The Resource Centers understands that continuity of operations and uninterrupted member services are critical priorities during this administrative transition. Our firm possesses the operational infrastructure, experienced personnel, and established procedures necessary to provide immediate operational support while minimizing disruption to the Board, members, retirees, and existing professional service providers.

A significant strength of our proposal is our existing experience administering pension payment operations through local Truist banking relationships similar to those currently utilized by the Retirement System. Our firm already processes recurring pension payrolls, DROP distributions, and related payment operations for multiple public pension plans using comparable banking structures and operational controls. This existing infrastructure allows The Resource Centers to continue pension benefit payments and related financial operations without requiring an immediate migration of payment systems or custodial disbursement arrangements.

Our transition approach is designed to preserve continuity wherever practical while establishing a stable long-term administrative structure supporting the Board and members of the Plan. We will coordinate closely with the Board's existing professional advisors, including legal counsel, actuary, investment consultant, auditor, custodian, City staff, and Mike Sommer throughout the transition process to ensure continuity of records, reporting, compliance activities, and ongoing administrative operations.

Under the coordinated approach proposed within this proposal, Mike Sommer would continue serving as a local member and Board support resource, while The Resource Centers provides the broader operational infrastructure necessary for the continued administration of the Retirement System, including benefit payroll administration, accounting support, financial reporting, compliance services, administrative systems, workflow processing, and coordination among service providers.

A detailed transition and implementation timeline is included within this proposal outlining the operational steps, coordination process, and implementation methodology proposed by The Resource Centers. Our objective throughout the transition process is straightforward: maintain continuity, protect member services, preserve operational stability, and support the Board in the ongoing administration of the Retirement System with confidence and minimal disruption.

INCLUSIVE ADMINISTRATIVE SERVICE PHILOSOPHY

The Resource Centers provides an integrated administrative service model designed to deliver consistent member support, operational efficiency, and predictable administration costs for the Board. Our standard administrative services include secure online member access, benefit estimation tools, member communication support, administrative reporting, and ongoing operational coordination as part of our overall service platform rather than as separate recurring technology services.

We believe successful pension administration requires experienced personnel, responsive member service, disciplined operational procedures, and practical administrative systems working together within a coordinated framework. Our inclusive retainer structure is intended to provide the Board with comprehensive administrative support, clear expectations, and stable long-term service relationships while minimizing unnecessary fragmentation of services or operational responsibilities.

The following description provides an overview of the security, backup, and quality control systems in place.

Information Systems

Physical Access

Main Office

Resource Centers' headquarters is located in a multi-tenant professional building residing in Palm Beach Gardens, Florida. Access to the facility is restricted after normal business hours. Only authorized individuals may access the facility after hours via keypad entry.

Access to Resource Centers' suite is through a single entry point that remains locked at all times. Authorized personnel may enter the main entrance by an electronic access control system utilizing electronic keys. Visitors may enter by appointment only. Once allowed access through the main entry, visitors are greeted by a receptionist stationed in the front lobby area. All visitors are escorted by Company personnel throughout their visit with Resource Centers.

Fire Detection and Suppression

Detection sensors are installed in the ceiling of the facility areas. Fire detection equipment is monitored remotely 24x7x365. Suppression devices include handheld extinguishers and a fixed sprinkler system. Fire detection and suppression features include:

- Smoke sensors
- Heat sensors
- Remote 24x7x365 monitoring
- Handheld fire extinguishers
- Fixed sprinkler system

Logical Access

Access to resources and data is granted to individuals based on their job responsibilities. New user accounts are established only upon receipt of properly authorized requests. The security administrator is responsible for ensuring adherence to the security policy that addresses logical access control procedures.

Unique user IDs and passwords are assigned to each user. The Company's security policy establishes password rules that require a minimum of alphanumeric characters with password complexity requirements. Passwords are systematically required to be changed every 42 days. The security administrator sets the user's initial password. The user is required to change the password at first logon. IT or data owners remove individual access capabilities immediately upon notification of termination of employment, change of responsibilities, or termination of a contract with a client that uses the system. IT and data owners periodically review system security access levels to ensure individual access rights are appropriate based on job information.

User accounts and access rights are managed on the domain controllers employing the Internet-standard Kerberos network authentication protocol to authenticate both the client and the network, and to protect against the possibility of unauthorized users impersonating a server to enter the network.

Database software maintains their respective client databases. The databases are only accessible through the software application and are protected from unauthorized access. No direct network access is granted to this software or the servers that it runs on to anyone other than those granted by IT management.

Network Perimeter Security

The following are complementary types of network security perimeter devices used by the Company on its network to defend Internet-accessible systems:

- Router
- Firewall
- Demilitarized Zone (DMZ)
- Network Address Translation (NAT)
- Virtual Private Network (VPN)

Router

Routers are essential components of the network and control much of the Company's communications. The devices are utilized to divide the network into segments and control traffic flow from one segment to another. Segmenting the network in this manner adds additional levels of security and performance due to the application of traffic flow rules configured on each of the devices. The routers are located in secure, locked rooms to prevent tampering. Logical access to the devices is protected by unique user names and passwords, and can only be utilized by authorized personnel. Additionally, the Company utilizes network monitoring tools to proactively monitor its network for outages.

Firewall

The Company incorporates a firewall at the perimeter of its network to protect against threats from the Internet. The firewall protects the Company's local area network (LAN) from the wide area network (WAN) environment. The firewall device provides user and application policy enforcement, multi-vector attack protection, and secure connectivity services through a wide range of security and networking services in a unified threat management platform including:

- Application-aware firewall services
- Site-to-site and remote access Internet Protocol Security (IPSec) VPN connectivity
- Intelligent networking services
- Flexible management solutions

De-Militarized Zone (DMZ)

Network computers exposed to the Internet can subject the entire network to hacker attacks. This can lead to compromised data, viruses, and other types of malicious acts that could damage the Company's credibility and operations.

A DMZ has been established to isolate the Company's computers from the Internet. A DMZ is a small network of computers exposed to the external world (Internet). Identifiable security incidents occurring on the DMZ are evaluated, and steps are taken to mitigate those issues and further reduce the risk of breaches of the DMZ.

Network Address Translation (NAT)

The Company uses the technique of NAT on the main Internet router to provide hidden Internet addresses to internal Company computers. This effectively mitigates the possibility of external sources finding the addresses of internal Company computers.

NAT allows computers on a private network to access the Internet through an intermediary called the Network Address Translator. The NAT examines all packets destined for the Internet, removes the private Internet protocol (IP) address from the IP header, substitutes the address of the NAT public interface, and forwards it to the destination. When the resource at the destination IP address responds to the request, the NAT receives it, checks its internal table to see which client the packet belongs to, and forwards it to the proper client.

Virtual Private Network (VPN)

A VPN provides secure, encrypted communication between a network and a remote host or other remote networks over the public Internet. VPNs allow the establishment of an encrypted tunnel that protects the flow of network traffic from eavesdroppers.

A VPN is a private encrypted network that uses a public network (usually the Internet) to connect remote sites or users together. Instead of using a dedicated, real world connection such as a leased line, a VPN uses virtual connections routed through the Internet from the private network to the remote site or employee.

VPN allows remote users to access the Company's internal network. Users authenticate with the VPN concentrator and then authenticate with the Windows domain to gain access to network resources. Three levels of access rights are implemented based on the type of users accessing the network. Strong VPN authentication and encryption protocols are in use.

Computer Operations

Patch Deployment

The Company takes a proactive approach to patch management. Company administrators regularly monitor various Web sites, message boards, and mailing lists where advanced notification of bug and related patches is often disclosed prior to a public announcement by the vendor. This allows the Company to plan ahead for upcoming patches.

Company administrators consider each patch carefully and independently to determine if it is necessary to deploy it within the production environment. In many cases, the vulnerability addressed by the patch has been mitigated through any number of other countermeasures already in place such as firewalls, the intrusion prevention system, or an aspect of their hardening process. In these cases, patches may be deferred until a future service pack is made available. If Company administrators decide that the patch is necessary and should be deployed, the patch is tested. Once the patch has been thoroughly tested, it is approved for deployment in the production environment.

Data Backup and Restore

Backup

Resource Centers has implemented various backup methods as part of its production operations. The Company has a multi-layered strategy for protecting critical data files to meet business requirements. This strategy includes using hard disk files backed up to external hard drive technology, then to an offsite location using a secured Internet session. Database backup files are created utilizing database backup utilities and then transferred to external drive.

Using an automated process, backup jobs are run using a backup utility whereby the target files are identified in predefined backup jobs. The backup system is monitored continuously by the IT department. Resource Centers also utilizes offline backups that are stored in a safety deposit box which are updated on a monthly basis.

Restore

Restore testing is performed through the course of normal operations and as part of periodic testing. It involves restoring files from external hard drives or may be retrieved from the offsite storage vendor.

Database Security

The production database utilizes security features that encrypt the database at the table and field level to mask Personally Identifiable Information (PII). Access to view masked information is restricted to authorized individuals only.

Section C. Fees

Item 1: Detailed fee proposal.

Please refer to Section 8 for a detailed schedule of proposed fees and costs. Our fees are transparent and inclusive.

Item 2: Items excluded from base fee.

You will see from our proposed agreement that we only pass through expenses such as mass printing charges, postage for mass mailings, and overnight delivery charges required for delivery of specific documents.

Our fee includes all regular travel required for the administration of the Retirement System.

Item 3: Fee guarantee.

You will see from the fee detail in Section 8 that we will guarantee our fee with the proposed annual adjustment for three (3) years.

Section D. Affidavits

As part of this proposal, we have provided copies of the signed affidavits to counsel.

Section E. Other Services

Some plan administration firms may have a base fee with additional costs for services such as online benefit calculation systems. We provide our services under an inclusive retainer fee, with all fees detailed in Section 8 of this proposal. We believe in and affirm the duty of the Board as a fiduciary to administer the plan solely in the interests of the participants and beneficiaries, while defraying the normal and reasonable expense of administration.

We stand behind our commitment to accuracy, responsiveness, and excellence. Should we fall below the standard described in this proposal, we will reduce or waive fees for the applicable period. No questions asked.

SECTION 4.

OPERATIONAL CONTINUITY & TRANSITION

A. Transition Overview

The Resource Centers recognizes that the successful transition of retirement system administration requires careful planning, disciplined operational procedures, and consistent communication among trustees, service providers, City personnel, members, and retirees. Our transition philosophy is grounded in a straightforward objective: maintain continuity of operations and member services while implementing a stable and efficient long-term administrative structure for the Retirement System.

Administrative transitions can create uncertainty for boards, members, retirees, and professional service providers if not approached in a coordinated and methodical manner. For this reason, The Resource Centers emphasizes continuity wherever practical throughout the implementation process. Our transition approach is designed to preserve ongoing operations, maintain institutional knowledge, and minimize disruption to recurring administrative activities such as pension payroll processing, financial reporting, member services, compliance reporting, and coordination with professional advisors.

A primary operational priority during the transition process is the uninterrupted continuation of pension benefit payments and related financial operations. The Resource Centers already administers recurring pension payrolls and related payment operations for numerous public pension systems utilizing operational structures similar to those currently employed by the Retirement System. Our existing payment infrastructure, ACH processing procedures, reconciliation systems, and internal controls allow us to assume benefit payment operations without requiring immediate migration to new custodial or banking platforms. This approach minimizes operational disruption while preserving continuity for retirees and beneficiaries who depend upon timely and accurate pension payments.

The Resource Centers also recognizes the importance of maintaining continuity in member communication and accessibility during periods of administrative transition. Members and retirees must continue to have clear access to information, forms, benefit assistance, and responsive support throughout the implementation process. Our Client Service Team, administrative staff, secure member portal, and communication systems are structured to provide consistent support while ensuring that inquiries, benefit requests, and administrative matters continue to be handled in a timely and professional manner.

Operational controls and accountability remain central to our transition methodology. The Resource Centers maintains established administrative procedures governing workflow management, benefit processing, financial reconciliation, records management, data security, and quality control. These procedures are supported by our annual SSAE-18 SOC 1 Type 2 audit evaluating the design and operating effectiveness of our internal controls and administrative processes. Throughout the transition process, our objective is to maintain strong operational discipline while ensuring that all administrative functions continue in an orderly and transparent manner.

The Resource Centers further believes that successful transitions depend upon close coordination with existing professional service providers and operational stakeholders. Throughout the implementation process, our firm will coordinate closely with the Board, legal counsel, actuary, investment consultant, auditor, custodian, City staff, and other service providers to ensure continuity of reporting, records, compliance activities, financial operations, and member services. This coordinated approach helps preserve institutional continuity while establishing clear administrative responsibilities moving forward.

Our implementation methodology utilizes a phased transition approach designed to prioritize operational stability and continuity of critical functions. Initial transition efforts focus on the transfer and verification of records, establishment of operational workflows, coordination with financial institutions and service providers, and preservation of recurring benefit payment operations. Additional administrative processes and system integrations are then implemented in an orderly sequence to ensure continuity and minimize operational risk.

The Resource Centers has successfully assisted public pension boards through administrative transitions under a variety of circumstances, including transitions involving in-house administrative personnel, changes in operational staffing, and phased implementation arrangements. Our experience has consistently demonstrated that calm communication, disciplined procedures, realistic implementation schedules, and strong coordination among all parties are essential to successful long-term outcomes.

The detailed transition timeline included within this proposal outlines the operational steps, coordination process, and implementation framework proposed by The Resource Centers. Our goal throughout the transition process is simple: maintain continuity, protect member services, preserve operational stability, and support the Board in the ongoing administration of the Retirement System with confidence and minimal disruption.

B. Detailed Transition Timeline

The Resource Centers utilizes a structured and phased implementation approach designed to maintain continuity of operations, preserve member services, and minimize disruption throughout the administrative transition process. While actual implementation timing may be adjusted based upon the needs of the Board and coordination with existing service providers, the following outline reflects the general operational framework and transition methodology utilized by The Resource Centers for public pension administrative transitions.

Operational Transition & Implementation Timeline

The Resource Centers proposes the following plan for implementing plan administration services. We can modify the proposed timeline to meet the requirements of the Board. The Resource Centers recently completed the transition of another public pension plan previously administered internally by City personnel within an accelerated implementation schedule, including systems implementation and operational conversion.

Technology & Member Access

The Resource Centers utilizes internally developed administrative systems and secure online tools designed specifically for public pension administration. Our administrative platform supports member recordkeeping, workflow management, benefit processing, document management, reporting functions, and secure member access. Online member services, benefit estimation tools, and administrative reporting capabilities are integrated within our broader administrative framework to support operational efficiency and member accessibility.

Coordination with Professional Service Providers

Successful pension administration depends upon effective coordination among administrators, actuaries, attorneys, auditors, investment consultants, custodians, governmental staff, and other professional advisors. SECTION 6.

TECHNOLOGY & MEMBER SERVICES

SECTION A

TECHNOLOGY & MEMBER ACCESS

The Resource Centers utilizes internally developed administrative systems and secure online tools specifically designed to support public pension administration. Our technology platform is intended to enhance operational efficiency, improve member accessibility, support administrative accuracy, and facilitate communication among trustees, members, retirees, and professional service providers.

Members and retirees may access plan documents, forms, administrative resources, benefit estimate tools, account information, and secure communication features through the Resource Centers Virtual Pension Office. Trustees and professional service providers may also access plan information, reports, meeting materials, administrative documents, and other operational resources through secure electronic systems designed to support efficient plan administration and communication.

The Resource Centers integrates member access tools, online benefit estimation capabilities, workflow management systems, document administration, and reporting functions within our broader administrative platform as part of our standard administrative services. These tools are provided to support ongoing administration and member service operations without separate recurring annual technology or calculator licensing fees.

Our administrative systems are supported by established operational controls governing systems access, data management, workflow processing, secure communication, reconciliation procedures, and records administration. These operational controls are evaluated annually as part of our SSAE-18 SOC 1 Type 2 audit examining the design and operating effectiveness of our internal controls and administrative procedures.

Benefit System

The Resource Centers utilizes an integrated Benefit System specifically designed to support the operational and administrative requirements of public retirement systems. The system serves as the central administrative platform supporting benefit processing, workflow management, member communication, document administration, financial coordination, and operational oversight.

Rather than functioning solely as a member-facing portal, the Benefit System supports the full administrative life cycle of member and retiree services. Administrative workflows, benefit calculations, document requests, payment processing activities, status tracking, and operational reviews are managed within a coordinated administrative framework designed to promote accuracy, accountability, responsiveness, and continuity of operations.

The system provides structured workflow tracking and oversight capabilities allowing administrative personnel to monitor pending tasks, status changes, required approvals, outstanding items, and operational deadlines throughout the administration process. These structured workflows help support consistent processing standards, internal accountability, and timely coordination among administrators, members, retirees, and professional service providers.

Integrated member communication and secure document exchange capabilities further support ongoing interaction with members and retirees while maintaining organized administrative records and communication history. Benefit estimate tools, account inquiry functions, reporting capabilities, and administrative records management are incorporated within the broader administrative platform as part of the firm's standard administrative services without separate recurring annual technology or calculator licensing fees.

The Resource Centers continues to refine and expand the Benefit System as part of its long-term commitment to operational efficiency, member service, administrative accountability, and effective public pension plan administration.

SECURITY & OPERATIONAL CONTROLS

The Resource Centers maintains established operational controls and administrative procedures governing systems access, workflow management, payment processing, records administration, reconciliation activities, secure communications, and data management. Administrative systems are protected through controlled user access, encryption technologies, secure hosting environments, and monitored operational procedures designed to support the confidentiality, integrity, and availability of plan data and administrative functions.

Our internal controls and administrative procedures are evaluated annually through an independent SSAE-18 SOC 1 Type 2 audit examining both the design and operating effectiveness of our operational controls and administrative processes. The Resource Centers remains the only administrator of Florida public pension plans known to complete this level of annual operational audit review.

The Resource Centers also recognizes the increasing importance of cybersecurity governance and vendor oversight within public retirement system administration. Our operational controls, administrative procedures, access management practices, and security protocols are designed to support the broader governance and risk management principles reflected within the U.S. Department of Labor Cybersecurity Program Best Practices guidance applicable to employee benefit plan service providers.

Security and operational accountability are integrated throughout our broader administrative framework rather than treated as separate technology functions. We believe disciplined operational procedures, structured workflows, controlled systems access, secure data management, and ongoing administrative oversight are essential components of responsible public pension administration.

INTEGRATED ADMINISTRATIVE TEAMS

The Resource Centers utilizes a coordinated team-based administrative structure designed to support operational continuity, workflow accountability, responsive member service, and effective internal controls. Rather than relying upon a single administrator model, administrative responsibilities are distributed among specialized operational teams supporting member services, plan administration, benefit payroll processing, financial reporting, systems administration, and management oversight.

This structure allows the Retirement System to benefit from multiple experienced personnel working within clearly defined operational responsibilities while maintaining continuity of services during periods of transition, workload fluctuations, employee absences, or specialized project activity. Team-based administration also promotes operational redundancy, internal review processes, and consistent communication among administrators, members, trustees, and professional service providers.

Our administrative teams coordinate closely throughout the administration process to support efficient workflow management, timely benefit processing, payment administration, reporting coordination, member communications, and operational oversight. We believe this structured operational approach strengthens administrative accountability, supports continuity of operations, and enhances the overall quality and responsiveness of plan administration services.

COORDINATED LOCAL MEMBER SERVICES

The Resource Centers recognizes the importance of preserving local member accessibility and continuity of service for the members and retirees of the City of Ocala Police Officers Retirement System. Historically, members of the Retirement System have benefited from the availability of local administrative support and direct access to personnel familiar with the operations of the Plan and the needs of its members.

Under the coordinated administrative structure proposed herein, Mike Sommer would continue serving as a local resource for member support, Board coordination, and administrative assistance activities. The Resource Centers would work closely with Mr. Sommer while providing the broader operational infrastructure necessary for the ongoing administration of the Retirement System, including benefit payroll administration, accounting support, financial reporting, compliance coordination, administrative systems, workflow processing, and coordination with the Board's professional service providers.

We believe this coordinated approach provides the Board with the operational depth, administrative continuity, and internal support structure of an experienced public pension administration firm while preserving the local accessibility and member familiarity that have historically been important components of the Retirement System's administration. The Resource Centers has successfully supported similar collaborative administrative relationships with local personnel and in-house administrative staff for other public pension systems and recognizes the value these relationships provide to trustees, members, retirees, and beneficiaries.
