Amended Motion: Approve the City's letter of support of the Madison Oaks East Project for the Florida Housing Corporation's Request for Applications (RFA) process for competitive 9 percent tax credits

Community Development Services Director James Haynes discussed the Housing Credit Program, which provides for profit and nonprofit organizations with dollar for dollar reduction and federal tax liability in exchange for providing equity financing for the rehabilitation of the City's new construction of affordable housing rental units. To receive the maximum points allowed in the application process, projects are required to have the support of the local government, as well as a local contribution of at least $460,000. The city or local government may only provide a letter of support to one project a year; the City has provided such a letter for the Madison Oaks East project for the last four years. Two applicants - Madison Oaks East and Magnolia Terrace - presented to the Affordable Housing Advisory Committee on March 26, 2026; the AHAC committee voted 3-2 with three members absent to recommend the Madison Oaks East project. Each applicant had ten minutes to make their presentations to Council.

Stacy Banic, Developer, Madison Oaks East, spoke on federal grant funding received for affordable housing development projects. He provided a brief overview of Madison Oaks East, Madison Oaks West, the West Oak Master Plan, and FHFC funding goal. He noted the AHAC recommends approval of the Madison Oaks East project. He noted they were successful in completing the building of Madison Oaks West in 2024, following the receipt of a funding award from Florida Housing in 2022. The proposed development is in proximity to grocery stores, medical facilities, pharmacies, food services, community centers, parks and other retail stores, as well as the Lillian Bryant community center and the Mary Sue Rich community center. He highlighted the amenities to be included with the 96-unit development, and noted it is intended to be an affordable rental option for seniors. He reviewed the scoring criteria and explained why he believes Madison Oaks East is the stronger candidate for the grant funding.

Council Member Bethea expressed concern regarding the lack of senior housing opportunities in the City of Ocala.

Mr. Banic assured Council the housing project is for seniors only.

Tim Morgan, President, Jones Investment Corporation, discussed the Magnolia Terrace affordable senior housing project. It is a 55+, 92 unit, four-storey midrise building. They are able and willing to compete for tax credit opportunities, noting two completed Florida projects and two current projects in Palatka and Avon Park. He explained they have made a change to their site plan since the March 26 presentation to AHAC, which sets aside .75 acres to allow the development of a medical-dental building that would provide no-cost care to residents of the project as well as surrounding community. He noted the proximity of the development to local amenities such as a grocery store, Target, a public bus stop, and urgent care facilities. Marion Senior Services has provided a letter of support for the project. He noted Freedom Medical will be responsible for building costs associated with the construction of the proposed medical facility. Jones Investment Corporation cannot confirm if Marion Senior Services was aware of the other project proposals before issuing the letter of support.

Director of Community Development Services James Haynes spoke on the competitive grant application process for the County and City.

Council Member Musleh spoke in support of the Madison Oaks East project.

Council agreed to support the Madison Oaks East project and approve the letter of support.

There being no further discussion the motion carried by roll call vote.
